The UNFCCC is mandated to organize a formal meeting annually to consider the coordination of support for the implementation of REDD+ actions under Article 5 of the Paris Agreement.

The reversal of global deforestation can only be achieved through the leadership of developing countries implementing the REDD+ Mechanism under the Paris Agreement. This will be driven by predictable finance at a sufficient scale and underpinned by national legislation and policy.

According to the most recent IPCC report, gigaton-scale reductions annually must begin this year. Sovereign carbon has already outpaced the voluntary standards by a factor of 10. Project-based action cannot meet the speed and scale required by the latest science.

Article 6 has changed the game. Moratoriums on voluntary standards are expanding. Stranded carbon assets are growing.

Topics

- What is needed to reverse global deforestation?
- What is a REDD+ result?
- How do NDCs and National GHG Inventories work?
- How will authorizations, issuance and adjustments work?
- What is an Article 6 Registry?
- What does a 'Global Stocktake' imply?
- What is Sovereign carbon?
